WILL TRY TO REVIVE CORPSE

AIM TO BRING TO LIFE
ELECTRIC CHAIR
VICTIM

NEW JERSEY PHYSICIANS
WILL CONDUCT TESTS

To Refute Claim That Electrocuted Victims Do Not Die
From Shock

Trenton, N. J., Dec. 11.—With the purpose of refuting the claim made by Dr. Gibbons of New York that electrocuted criminals do not die from the electrical shock, but succumb later alive under the surgeon's knife in the autopsy or in the quicklime in which their bodies are buried, County Physician Frank G. Scammon and State Prison Physician Thomas H. Mac-Kenzie will subject the body to the various methods of resuscitation known to medical science. Both physicians are confident that their efforts will fail and that the test will demonstrate that death by electricity is not only practically instantaneous, but painless. Proof of this they will look for in the condition of the vital parts of the body in the autopsy.

Since electricity was adopted by New Jersey to supersede the gallows such autopsies as have been held of the bodies of victims of the death chair have been performed by Dr. E.
A. Spitzka of Philadelphia. Dr. Spitzka is recognized as an expert in electrical knowledge because of his long association with Electrician Davis of the Fins Sling Union, New York. County Physician Scammon, however, has announced that future post-mortem examinations of this kind in Mercer county will be conducted by him, as he does not propose to have his professionals and duties assumed by an outsider.

New Executioner Sought.
Electrician Davis and Dr. Spitzka have charge of all the electrocutions held thus far in this state, through arrangements made with Principal Keeper Osborne of the state prison. An effort is being made, however, to secure the services of a Trenton electrician as official electrocutioner, and when he has been properly "broken in" the services of Davis and Dr. Spitzka will be dispensed with.

AGENTS FAKE PICTURES

One of the most generous offers in the world is being made the good housewives of Guthrie. Philanthropy comes out between every line of the household. It is proposed by a certain picture house—one of those enlarging concerns that annoy every household in the land, to place seventy-five pictures in the city—free.

The seller calls and proposes that the lady draw an envelope Scattered through the bunch are some, so the solicitor says, that contain coupons. Those coupons give the lady the right to have a picture enlarged free. In case it is a blank then it costs nothing. There is not a lady in the land but what would realize that picture boudoirs are not giving away anything. There is a "singer in the wood pine."

Here is a conversation that a representative of The Leader overheard. A certain lady had been invited to "draw one" and to amazement it contained a coupon.

During the proceedings a neighboring lady lifted in, and she was told of the wonderful good luck. "Why really it is the first time in my life that I ever drew a thing." The visitor was interested and wanted to try her luck, but the solicitor demurred, claiming that it was not probable there was another coupon in the lot that she had, but after some parleying converted it above the lady to draw. It was a winner of course. Both ladies gave the solicitor photographs of some deceased member of the family, treasures that can never be replaced. The solicitor accepted them and told the ladies in a very few of the better towns of the state and among the more better class of people they were giving pictures away. At the time of the delivery the joker will present itself. The ladies will find themselves charged with a frame, a fancy price for a cheap article, no doubt, and to possession of the picture they will be submitted to the holder. Housewives are warned against such schemes.

The same thing has been repeated in all the other cities of the state and in many other states. The solicitors received letters and photographs in second class hotel.
